City Feels Meat Price Squeeze

Extension Of Strike Hinted

Doubt Call To Hit Here

Mansfield housewives are paying more for meat today than two months ago largely because of the prolonged strike of packinghouse workers that has idled 100,000 workers in the nation's major packing houses.

Operators of the city's markets forecast today that meat prices will go higher if the strike doesn't end soon.

No quick end to the walkout is in sight. Rather it is likely to be extended. CIO Packinghouse Workers announced they planned to "broaden their eight-week strike and call out 50,000 workers in 50 independent slaughter houses."

Doubt was expressed that Mansfield packers would be affected by such a call.

Ralph Helstein, president of the striking United Packinghouse Workers Union, declared the move was made because the independent plants "were assisting the big four packers (Swift, Armour, Cudahy and Wilson) in breaking the nearly two-months old strike."

FEW SHORTAGES HERE

Only shortage of meat found in Mansfield today was on cold meats, lamb, and processed meats, such as dried beef and Canadian bacon. All dealers reported their supplies "very good."

Prices, however, were generally reported rising on beef. A spokesman for the Kearns Packing company said beef had increased about six cents a pound in the last three weeks. At the same time, pork loins have dropped six cents a pound in the same period.

Pork chops were reported "holding their own" at 65 and 75 cents a pound. Lard dropped 10 cents a pound to 30 cents this week.

Most of the dealers said they are able to "supply the demand" for meat, but that a lengthened strike will "definitely affect future prices."

STRIKE CALLED MARCH 16

Since the strike over wages was called last March 16, independent plants have stepped up their production, and the nation scarcely has felt the effects of the walkout involving approximately 100,000 workers.

The latest U. S. department of agriculture survey showed the nation's meat production to be only 10 per cent below that of a year ago.

Thus a strike in the independent plants would cut off a large section of the nation's production, leaving only unorganized and AFL plants in operation.

The union originally demanded a wage increase of 29 cents an hour but agreed to accept the packers' offer of a 9-cent hourly raise on the condition that the remaining 20 cents be submitted to arbitration. This proposal was rejected by the packers, and the strike was called.

A presidential fact finding board investigated the strike and reported it found the 9-cent hourly raise, which previously was accepted by the AFL unions, was "substantial."

Pact Awaits Ratification

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The speed with which Latin-American countries ratify the new pact strengthening the inter-American system is expected to indicate whether the Bogota conference was a success.

The pact, signed Friday in the Colombian capital, establishes a regional system for the western hemisphere within the framework of the United Nations. In many respects it is designed to solve inter-American problems without recourse to the world organization.

To become effective 14 nations of the 21 within the hemisphere must officially ratify the new arrangement, which supplants the Pan-American union.

ORE SHIPMENTS HIGHER

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Iron ore shipments on Lake Superior last month totaled 7,677,270 gross tons compared with 4,448,411 in the same month in 1947. The Lake Superior Iron Ore association reported today.

Girl Gives Reason For Rail Truce

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Ruth Hanby, a sixth grade pupil at Logan, O., wants her congressman to do something about the railroad strike called for May 11.

She wrote Rep. Walter E. Brehm (R-Ohio) yesterday telling him about a May 14 outing planned by 200 children at West school in Logan. The students hope to travel to Gallipolis on a train.

"We would like for you," Ruth said, "to talk to the National Mediation Board to stop the strike or put it off till after May 14. Ninety percent of the children in our school never have ridden on a train."

N-J Defends Free Press Before FCC

Newspapers Hit Board's Ruling

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Attorneys for two Ohio newspapers told the communications commission today it has no authority to rule on what is legitimate news.

George Sutton, representing The Mansfield Journal Co., and the Lorain Journal Co., said it is "purely a matter of freedom of the press" for a newspaper to publish or not to publish—as it desires—the daily radio log of a competing radio station.

The commission was hearing oral arguments on its proposed findings that it deny licenses for radio stations to the two newspaper companies. The commission found that the Mansfield paper did not carry a Mansfield radio station's daily program logs and did not publish stories about WMAN.

CHALLENGES AUTHORITY

"Under what theory," Sutton asked the commission, "are you the judge of legitimate news?" He also said the commission has no authority "to say that one has suppressed competition."

Atty. William Thomson, also representing the two Ohio papers, said the commission had "gone out of the way" to find "derogatory" material against his clients and ignored evidence showing their reputation as public servants.

He said chief opposition to The Mansfield Journal setting up a radio station came from a campaign by WMAN to oppose establishment of another station.

Teachers Go On Strike

PROVIDENCE, R. I. —(CP)— Public school teachers went on strike today, closing the city's schools to 30,000 pupils.

The teachers struck to support their demand for a single-salary schedule.

Members of the AFL Teachers' alliance placed picket lines at schools throughout the city.

Members of the Independent Teachers' association had voted at a meeting today to honor the picket lines. Of the city's 1,200 teachers, about 600 are members of the AFL union and 400 belong to the Independent association.

The teachers seek a salary schedule ranging from $2,400 to $4,000 which would apply to teachers in all grades. At present, elementary school teachers receive $1,200 to $2,400 annually; junior high school teachers $1,400 to $2,600 and high school teachers $1,400 to $3,000.

Showers On Weather Menu

After serving up an ideal spring day yesterday, the weatherman came through today with a forecast of showers late in the day and cloudy and warmer for tomorrow.

The weather bureau's five-day outlook for Ohio follows:

Temperatures will average near normal in the east portion and two to four degrees above normal in the west portion. Little change in temperature through Thursday. Warmer Friday and Saturday. Cooler Sunday. Showers Thursday and Saturday or Sunday, with total rainfall one-quarter to one-half inch.

Three Freed By Russians

U. S. Army Calls Arrests Justified

BERLIN — (AP) — American military police say the Russians were justified in arresting three U. S. soldiers in the Soviet zone of Berlin Saturday night.

The trio included PFC. Joseph S. Lenz, 21, of 526 West Wheeling St., Lancaster, O., military police said.

An MP officer said the soldiers were picked up for disturbing the peace.

"We have established that the three went out on a binge and stayed out after hours at an off-limits place," the officer said. "In addition, they were carrying weapons against regulations. The Russians were perfectly right in arresting them and the soldiers confirm they were not mistreated."

He said the three face disciplining which likely will be severe since the army currently is under Russian propaganda fire on charges of "rowdyism."

The soldiers, attached to the 100th Station Complement squadron at Tempelhof field, told newsmen they left Tempelhof Saturday night, drove into the French sector, picked up a 17-year-old German girl and then visited a cafe near her home in the Soviet sector.

They said they had several drinks. One soldier wore a pistol in his belt, another had a carbine and the third a machette.

When one of the soldiers fired his gun into the air after leaving the cafe, German police called Russian military authorities.

Results Please Physicians

Serum Helps Curb Measles Outbreak

A relatively new serum, designed to prevent and modify ordinary measles, is being used for the first time on a large scale in Mansfield, Dr. A. C. Biddle, acting health commissioner, reported yesterday.

During the first three and one half months of 1948, more than 800 cases of measles were reported to the city-county health board and many others were not reported.

Mansfield and county physicians have been obtaining the serum free of charge from the health board which is distributing it for the state health department.

Doctors are using the serum as a temporary, four-week, preventative and, in cases where the disease has broken out, as a modifier.

CURBS DISEASE

The results are excellent, physicians report, in that the duration and intensity of the disease is lessened. One attack of measles results in life-time immunity, so a child, suffering a mild attack, need never again worry about measles and its complications.

The serum is obtained from human blood plasma that was donated by volunteers through the American Red Cross for the armed forces. It is surplus to the needs of the armed forces and is therefore provided for civilian use free of charge.

Although measles itself is not dangerous, complications of an attack of the predominantly childhood disease can be serious, resulting in such maladies as bronchitis, pneumonia, ear and eye infections and in some cases inflammation of the brain covering, Dr. Biddle said.

Twister Hits Texas Towns

M'KINNEY, Tex.—(INS)—Rescue workers dug through shattered McKinney and Princeton today for possible additional victims of a tornado which killed at least two and injured a score of others.

The twister caused damage estimated at a million dollars.

Witnesses said the storm hit McKinney without warning, cutting a seven-block wide patch through the city, and destroyed or damaged about 150 houses before it veered eastward to Princeton.

Some 130 to 140 school children escaped injury by huddling in the east wing of their school building while the storm buffeted the structure.

Windows in the three-story City hospital were shattered by debris hurled through the air by the wind. Several patients were cut by flying glass.

Probably the greatest scene of destruction was at the two-million-dollar Texas Textile mills. The roof and second story of the building were torn off and much of the large equipment was heavily damaged.

Crash Kills M. F. Rubin

WMAN Owner's Car Hits Tree at Curve

Monroe F. Rubin, 64, Cleveland Heights, owner of Mansfield radio station WMAN, was killed in an automobile accident at 6:50 p. m. yesterday on Route 60, three miles south of Ashland.

Rubin was dead when he was taken out of his car, which had failed to negotiate a sharp curve at Mohrman corner. He was traveling south on Route 60 and was alone in the car, according to Ashland County Chief Deputy William Schindler. Schindler said Rubin's car struck a tree and then a utility pole.

A structural steel contractor, the Cleveland man also had extensive other interests, including additional radio interests, strip mining and farm holdings.

His body was taken to the Gilbert funeral home in Ashland last night and then to Cleveland this morning, where services are being arranged.

Survivors include his wife, Ruth, two sons, Buford and Vaughn; a daughter Racnelle; a brother, William P. Rubin of Storden, Minn., and a sister, Mrs. Burrell Dye of Buffalo.

One Taxpayer Gathers 104 W-2 Forms

PHILADELPHIA — (INS) — The Quaker city lays claim today to the world's champion income taxpayer.

The U. S. internal revenue office reported that the tax champ filed 104 separate returns for 1947.

This is how he did it:

A freight unloader, he earned $440 last year working for 51 employers in 22 cities and seven states.

Every time a job ended, he got from his employer a form W-2, showing how much he was paid and how much tax was withheld.

By the first of January, he had 104 W-2 forms.

So, he simply filled in the blanks on each of the 104 forms, and mailed the whole batch to the revenue office.

He got his "reward" today for his pains—a refund of more than $100.

The internal revenue office identified the tax champ only as a father of three children.

MOUNT VERNON — (AP) — Mount Vernon is stricken with slow time this summer.

Labor Picture Darkens

(By United Press)

The nation's labor picture darkened considerably today as federal mediators virtually gave up hope of averting a rail strike on May 11 and the CIO United Auto Workers demanded a 30-cent hourly wage increase for Ford employes.

Frank P. Douglass, chairman of the National Railway Mediation board, scheduled final meetings between the carriers and representatives of three railway operating unions, but expressed little hope that a settlement could be reached.

In other labor developments:

1. Officials of the CIO United Packinghouse Workers said Wilson and company's threat to fire striking workers had not affected the nationwide meat strike.

2. CIO President Philip Murray accused the steel industry of making "paltry" cuts in steel prices in "mere shadow boxing for public exhibition."

3. Soft coal operators moved to block any new wage demands by John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers. The operators announced they had spent $500,000,000 for supplies, repairs and new equipment during 1947. The statement was seen as paving the way to refuse demands for wage increases when the miners' contract comes up for renewal June 30.

4. In the only optimistic note on the labor scene, the Communications Workers of America (Ind.) announced they will extend their contracts with the telephone industry for "short periods of time" to forestall a nationwide telephone strike.

CONTRACTS EXPIRING

The union represents 230,000 workers and its contracts with the companies expire this month.

The new wage demands by the national UAW council representing workers in 40 Ford plants was in line with the union's demands for workers at other companies in the auto industry.

The council asked for a flat 30-cent hourly pay boost and "fringe" benefits such as health insurance, a guaranteed weekly wage, a three-week vacation with pay, equalization of job rates, a 10 per cent night differential and return of a paid lunch hour.

Ford was the last of the "big three" auto producers to receive the union's 1948 round of wage demands. The union already is negotiating with General Motors and the Chrysler corporation.

Church Post Open to All

BOSTON —(AP)— The Methodist General conference today voted unanimously to have Negroes serve on the church's important judicial council.

The action followed a recommendation of the committee on judicial administration headed by the Rev. Dr. George W. Warmer, pastor of the First Methodist church, San Diego, Calif.

The judicial council is compared by church leaders with the supreme court and is made up of five clergymen and four laymen, all of them lawyers.

Their work is in the interpretation of points of church law.

The new action makes it mandatory to have a Negro elected to the judicial council. Previously Negroes have been nominated to the council but none has been elected.

The conference voted to increase the annual world service budget by one third. The total set for the next four years was $7,903,379.

Bomber Falls Near Munich

FRANKFURT —(INS)— United States Air Force headquarters in Europe announced today that one American airman was killed and two others are missing in the crash of a super-fortress bomber near Munich.

The rest of the crew of the ill-fated B-29 were hospitalized with minor injuries after the big plane crashed at Fuerstenfeldbruck last night.

Cause of the mishap was not determined.

Greeks Execute 152 For Murder

ATHENS—(AP)—It was officially announced that 152 persons convicted of murder were executed in Greece today.

Virtually all the slayings were connected with the 1944 revolution. All appeals by the condemned had been formally rejected by the pardons board.

Tenth Of Ballots Cast Early

Taft-Stassen Hold Interest

Mansfield voters held to their traditional 50-50 loyalty to their parties as they cast an average primary election vote today.

A cross section of the city's 51 precincts at 10:30 a. m. showed about one Republican ballot cast for each Democratic vote. Overcast skies cleared toward noon, promising to speed the ballot-casting.

Voters had only a few contests to interest them. In county races, Republicans had two contests—for sheriff and county commissioner. Democrats had one—for sheriff.

But interest was intense for Republicans in the Taft-Stassen bid for GOP convention delegates. In Richland county, voters had only one candidate pledged to Stassen. The other 12 on the ballot all were for Taft.

HOT GOVERNOR RACE

For Democrats, chief statewide interest centered in the battle between Former Gov. Frank Lausche and Cleveland's former mayor, Ray T. Miller, for the gubernatorial nomination.

Election officials varied in their description of the voting. Some said it was "light," others called it "moderate," while most of the rest termed it "about normal for a primary."

The first four hours of voting showed about 10 per cent of the eligible voters had cast ballots in 13 precincts checked. With the heaviest voting expected to come in the three hours preceding the closing of the polls at 6:30 p. m., the voting was expected to come close to the predicted 6,000 for the county.

Ward 1 voting, as expected, ran heavily Republican with Precincts D and I reporting 50 GOP ballots cast against 15 for Democrats out of a total registration of 625.

Ward 2 also showed the usual heavy Republican vote. In three precincts, A, B and C, 85 Republican ballots had been cast against 48 Democratic out of 1130 eligible voters.

DEMS LEAD

Wards 5 and 6 were as predominantly Democratic, Ward 5 showing only six Republican ballots in Precincts A and C against 59 Democratic votes out of a registration of about 500. Ward 6 reported 18 Republican ballots against 26 Democratic out of 450 eligible voters.

Ward 3 was closely split with 25 Republican ballots cast in Precincts A and D and 26 Democratic ballots out of 750 eligible.

Ward 4 leaned toward the Democrats. Members of that party had cast 37 ballots against 16 for the Republicans out of 550 registered voters.

Republicans were an oddity at Precinct 4-D, voting at Friendly House showing only one GOP ballot cast in the first four hours when 40 Democrats had voted.

Remodeling Job Started

Work on the addition to the Neisner store, North Main street, started today as workmen moved into the former Richman Brothers site at 59 North Main street to begin the big remodeling job.

Building permit was issued to the Neisner firm yesterday at the request of Ollie K. Porter and James B. McIntyre.

Estimated cost of remodeling both the inside and outside of the former clothing store is $35,000. Contractor for the job is John B. Pike, of Rochester, N. Y.

Local store officials said today they did not know when the remodeling would be finished. Neisners took over the lease on the building when the lease with the Richman Brothers expired early this year.

Blonde Follows Prisoner to Europe

Girl Wins Man Plus Peck of Troubles

WIESBADEN —(INS)—Constance Lundelius, the New Jersey blonde who trailed her German prisoner-of-war boy-friend back to Europe, has finally won her man—and a pack of legal troubles.

The army newspaper Stars and Stripes says that 20-year old Connie and Karl Klein, 24, a one-time POW, were married Thursday in Wiesbaden.

For Connie, this was a triumph over boundary lines, oceans, and military government red tape.

She met Karl in the United States. They fell in love, and when Karl was shipped back to his homeland, the Bloomfield, N. J., girl followed him, in an ingenious manner.

She married a British sailor. This got her as far as London, where she divorced the Briton. Shortly afterward she showed up in Karl's hometown, Wiesbaden, in the U. S. zone of Germany.

Connie got a residence permit, then an identity card, then a waiver permitting her—as a foreigner—to marry a German. But military government officials say that the German civilian authorities had no right to issue the waiver without U. S. approval.

That's where the matter stands now except for two more complicating factors. One is Connie's courtship. She's still an American until she renounces her citizenship. But under British law, she's a subject of His Majesty, George VI, because of her marriage to the sailor.

And since, Thursday, when she married Karl, she's a German.

The second problem, Stars and Stripes said, is that Connie is expecting a baby in September.

The child's nationality, officials say, will be a three-way toss-up.

Wallace Dares Not Face Subject Of Guru Letters, Writer Claims

THE REASON why Henry Wallace has refused to discuss the authorship of the goofy Guru letters to Nicholas Roerich, the Russian painter and god-man, is that he does not dare face the subject at all now. If he were to discuss any phase of it, he would have to face questions and proofs concerning his association with Roerich and his expenditure of public money to send this adventurer and his party on a personal religious and political junket to Asia.

The general accounting office of the government is harsh on obscure employes who accidentally overcharge for a pullman berth or taxi on government business on the road.

But Wallace squandered about $35,000 of the taxpayers' money on this junket for his guru which produced no public benefit nor even a final report, and the accounting office has never called on him to pay up.

If Wallace had answered the question put to him, not by a newspaper reporter but by a radio reporter, soon after the guru letters were published in this column for the first time, he would have exposed himself to a series of questions and a public disclosure of further conduct on his part in his balmy days with Roerich.

This would have obliterated the false reputation created for him by a few yearning God-seekers of Washington journalism as an unspeakably honest, brave and fair politico-spiritual leader with a divine love for the people.

Wallace is actually, on the contrary, a sneak who threw down two fine American professional scientists employed in the department of agriculture because they refused to submit to Roerich on the mission.

Wallace ducked the first World War on the plea that his services were needed to manage and publish a farm journal owned by his rich father, and on a pretext, later dissipated, that he was suspected of tuberculosis.

He ducked the second war during the brief period between his vice presidency and his appointment to the department of commerce, although skinny little boys barely out of childhood were going to battle and Wallace was now rejoicing in a reputation as one of the physical marvels of his age-bracket. He was athletic, esthetic, tireless, but not brave.

About that time, too, Harry Hopkins and Eleanor the Great, speaking for the White House, were demanding that all civilians, women as well as men, be drafted for war work and billeted on the households of the country without regard for the moral character of the boarders in decent American homes or for difference in race.

Compulsory accommodation of British soldiers billeted in American homes was one of the grievances mentioned in the Declaration of Independence.

Wallace was, by the standards of the government's own war labor services, a slacker during that time, for he had no job at all. The quality of his leadership must be determined by the fact that he undeniably did accept the spiritual leadership of a magician and mountebank with a hocus-pocus make-up.

Later, he not only repudiated this guru of his but exiled him to India so that Roerich could not come back to the United States and publicly denounce him as a dangerous fool during his campaign for vice president in 1940.

Financing Bills Before Council

Action on Street, Water Measures Due

The sale of $1,200,000 worth of second-mortgage waterworks revenue bonds is the leading item on the heavy city council agenda tonight.

Bids to purchase the bonds were opened at noon in the office of the clerk of council. The money obtained through this loan will be used to complete the Clerk Fork waterworks project.

The legislators will be asked to consider 14 measures which will wind up legislative action on the city's $273,000 street improvement program. Tonight's legislation will authorize the service director to ask for bids for the work and will authorize borrowing in anticipation of the collection of assessments.

Special assessment levies on 15 completed sewer, street, grading and paving projects also will be considered.

A bill to authorize the hiring of a policewoman is on the agenda. Previously the police department had two clerk-stenographers. If council acts favorably on the policewoman measure, then the department will hereafter employ only one clerk stenographer.

Civics Pupils Study City at First Hand

By NITA BRANSON

If you want to know anything about Mansfield, its government, social welfare agencies and civic institutions, just ask a member of the civics and American history classes taught by Fred Staub at Senior high school.

For the past two weeks, the 110 members of three classes have been studying Mansfield as it probably was never quite studied before at Senior high.

"We decided to make a practical application of our civics," Staub related, "so we divided the classes into 39 committees, with two or three on each committee.

"Each of these groups was assigned some particular branch of Mansfield's civic organization, with the object of making a survey of that particular branch and reporting on it to the class."

This week will about finish the reporting, Staub said. Surveys were made a couple of weeks ago and since that time, students have been submitting written reports or making oral ones to the class at the same time.

COMMENTS INTERESTING

"Of course," Staub said, "we can only hear about four of those at one class, so it's going to take at least a week longer."

Some of the comments of the students have been quite interesting, Staub said.

"One student said she learned more in two weeks of practical survey than in all the class room study before," Staub recalled. "Another thought it infinitely more interesting than just book learning. And they all reported wonderful cooperation from each of the civic officials contacted."

Altogether, Staub expects that it will be about a six-weeks' project. When it is all completed, he thinks his students will compile a municipal handbook for future reference. It will be a guide and an inspiration, he thinks, to students who follow in succeeding civics classes.

WEEKS OF 'BRIEFING'

Although the actual survey has taken only a couple of weeks, there were weeks spent on "briefing," Staub said, when students were prepared for interviews, with suggested questons to be asked and other angles to be considered.

Some similar investigating has also been done by the two other history teachers, Louis Rahn and Augie Morningstar, Staub said.

Departments of city organization contacted included the following: all courts, boards of health and education, Children's Home, fire department, Richland county Auto club, city council, Farm Bureau, police chief, both Boy and Girl Scouts, Community Chest, airport, Mansfield Telephone company, gas and electric utilities, city park, churches, Friendly House, Mayor Roy Vaughn, city solicitor and safety-service director, Westinghouse Electric corporation, railroads, and transportation, hospital, post office, dairies, credit bureau, News-Journal, broadcasting, City Recreation department, water works, Chamber of Commerce, Richland county infirmary, real estate, city banks, service clubs and fraternal groups, public library, welfare organizations, Red Cross, Democratic and Republican party heads.

Ask Flashers At Crossing

Installation of flasher lights at the Leiter road crossing near Lucas, scene of a number of accidents, has been requested by the county.

County commissioners have passed a resolution calling for flashers at the Pennsylvania railroad crossing, following similar action by Lucas village council.

Action was started by residents in the area who circulated a petition for the flashers.

An inspector for the Public Utilities commission examined the crossing and checked traffic recently. He made a recommendation for installation of flasher lights at the crossing.

Copies of the resolutions were sent to the railroad.

Detectives said they were holding an Akron man who was at the Austin home at the time of the theft.

Adams, an Ohio State student, has been chosen by the University School of Journalism as top man for the annual Citizen Day when the regular staffers turn over the editorial department of the newspaper to several classes of journalism students at the state university. CAUTIOUS OPERATOR—

An amused ripple went through the Town Meeting audience at Central Methodist church Sunday night when Rev. Carveth P. Mitchell told of sending a telegram to Miss Dorothy Wolcott about the meeting at the Central Methodist church and having it charged to the First Lutheran church of which he is pastor. "They won't like that," said the operator, when Rev. Mitchell told her to charge it to his congregation. "You're talking about the Methodist church in the telegram and the First Lutheran church isn't going to like that," the operator added. Rev. Mitchell said he finally satisfied the operator.

BUSY LEADER—

The busiest man at the Town Meeting Sunday night was Rev. Ben F. Hagelbarger. Serving as moderator, he took in the questions so fast that he had a busy time sorting them and assigning them to each of the panel discussion leaders. But he did his job quite efficiently and with a fair and impartial time allotment to each question.

Link Thefts With Escapes

Police today were investigating the possibility that two Mansfield reformatory inmates may have used two stolen cars to aid them in their escape Sunday night.

John M. Terman, 74 North Franklin avenue, reported that a car from his used car parking lot was stolen between 6 p. m. Saturday and 8 a. m. Monday. The car bore no plates and was a 1938 grey coupe.

Reported taken Sunday night from the garage of Jeanette Remy, 339 Altamont avenue, was a 1941 coupe. The car, however, was recovered at 4:55 p. m. yesterday in Marion by Marion state highway patrolmen. Mansfield police said the car was reported out of gas.

Arthur L. Glattke, superintendent of the reformatory, said today the pair had not yet been apprehended. They were, Ralph "Tiger" Garland, 22, and Lonnie Mullins, 20, both sentenced from one to 20 years for auto theft.

Anderson Proposes 1 Agency

Sees Need For Single Policy

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Conservation work in farmland, water and forests should be combined under one agency, Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson believes.

He told the Columbus chapter of the Friends of the Land last night that one agency is necessary "to accomplish the job that must be done."

"All conservation work, whether done on the farm or elsewhere, must conform with one policy, for you cannot plan or achieve farmland conservation without water and forest conservation," Anderson added.

The man who is leaving President Truman's cabinet shortly to campaign for U. S. senator from New Mexico said he was taking no side in the current controversy over merger of government soil conservation agencies.

"I will not enter the lists on the side of those who insist that one type of public assistance is good while another type is bad," he said.

"Nor can I see one agency as virtuous and another iniquitous. What I do see is that we must make a unified effort, that we must not break up our program into little segments under scattered control, and that at the same time we must provide a two-way channel for local adaptation and formulation of the national program."

Anderson said he has recommended a merger of the soil conservation service and the agricultural conservation program into a single program directed by a single agency.

Remodeling Cost Doubles

Richland county commissioners have authorized payment of bills totaling $2,265 for a job at the courthouse which was expected to cost only $965.

The amount was paid to Frank Beymer, Mansfield contractor, for constructing an additional room for the county recorder's department.

The original agreement called for payment of $965 for the project, but commissioners said rising costs and changes in plans for the work boosted the total cost.

Commissioners authorized payment in three separate bills, $978.63, $351.43 and $936.31. Each of the payments had to be made in the amount of less than $1,000 since the job had not been advertised. The commissioners had figured the cost at less than $1,000, which doesn't require advertising.

Meter Revenue Shows Increase

The average daily income from Mansfield parking meters increased during April to $165 as compared with $134 in March, George Caton, parking meter collector, reported today.

The April report covered a 24-day period with 460 meters in operation and showed a total of $3,980 collected, bringing the total collected so far this year to $13,831.

During March, $4,022 was collected but that was over a 30-day period.

CLEVELAND—(AP)— Lawrence Gillen, 28, of Canton, was held in default of $5,000 bond today on a charge of violating the Mann act. He was accused of transporting a 23-year-old waitress across state lines for immoral purposes.

About Mansfield Relays, Class B Events; Cuff Stuff

By Fred Tharp
(News-Journal Sports Editor)

SOMETIMES we wonder just how big the Mansfield Relays can get. . . . Of course, Mansfield's No. 1 sports event of the year will probably never again equal the 1939 figure when 110 schools and 1,500 lads competed. . . . Too many schools and towns have become aware of the fact that big-time track and field competition is a good thing. . . . Back ten years ago, the big relays could be counted on the fingers of one hand. . . . The list, then as now, was headed by the Mansfield Relays with the Ohio Wesleyan, Miami and Toledo DeVilbiss relays in close order. . . . Now more than 30 others have crowded on the scene. . . . The battle for contestants is now waging. . . . Ohio Wesleyan gets the most, but the Delaware event leans primarily to Class B schools. . . . A team has to have great squad depth to make a showing in the Wesleyan series (there is only one individual event, the rest are relays), so more and more Class A schools are switching from Delaware. . . . Only 26 were listed this season. . . . That leaves the Mansfield Relays at the top of the heap. . . . They're the first on the list and the toughest. . . . The prize list is the best of all. . . . But the backers will have to go even further. . . . The first three lads get special belt buckles, the next two ribbons. . . . We think it would be a swell idea to give the fourth and fifth place medals. . . . It may seem a bit early to be writing about the 1949 Relays but now is the time that the ground work must be laid to make the 19th Mansfield Relays better than ever.

MERRY HARRY Mehock, the founder-director of the local cinderpath carnival, has always shied away from a Class B division . . . We admit that adding Class B events on Saturday would overload the program tremendously . . . But track is getting a good start in Richland county . . . Right now Shelby and Madison are the only schools in Richland county that do not have track teams . . . Next year, perhaps, Madison will have a track team . . . The Ram school will have more coaches and could have a spring sports program . . . What we started to mention was the rapid growth of track . . . It is the fastest growing athletic endeavor in our school systems . . . Since the Richland county schools all have teams this year, the Relays probably could do a fine job of building up track in other close-by counties . . . We believe the best solution to this would be a contemporary meet to be run Friday afternoon . . . Only Class B schools from four or five adjoining counties would be eligible . . . All others could compete as before in the open division Saturday . . . The program could include eight or 10 or 12 events and suitable awards could be made . . . That would really be a step forward in promoting track and field . . . After-all track takes a minimum of equipment . . . Then the small schools could concentrate on baseball in the fall, basketball in the winter and track in the spring . . . It would make for a much better all-around program.

CUFF STUFF: Ohio State has scheduled its annual spring high school day for Saturday. . . . Students can get into the big sports show at Ohio stadium Saturday afternoon for 25 cents. . . . The Ohio State and Wisconsin track teams will meet at 1:30 p. m., followed by the spring intra-squad football game. . . . George Trautman will be the principal speaker at the Buckeye grid clinic banquet Friday night. . . . Leon Cohen, Brooklyn boy and Syracuse football center, has a terrific foundation—he wears size 14 shoes. . . . Sixty working press tickets have been allotted United States for the Olympic games in London. . . . The Wisconsin boxing team, which has won twenty straight dual meets in the past three seasons, will have its leading eight contestants back next year. . . . Four of the boys are national champions. . . . Hamilton officials popped up with something new during the spring grid game between the Big Blue and Toledo Waite. . . . The tops of the 10-yard chain sticks were lighted. . . . Al Hager, one of Mansfield's top amateur golfers, tells us he will be paid only as a policeman at the Cook road driving range. . . . "That's the end of my job," says Al. "But if someone wants a lesson, I'm going to draw myself away from the range to give free instructions on my part. However, Lee Adams (range owner) will charge a certain amount for the use of the range, clubs and balls."

'Lucky' Tygers Win Fifth Straight

Senior High Rally Nips Presidents

By CHARLEY STINE

MARION — Senior high's Tygers, who make a habit of winning baseball games without base hits, won their first test under the lights here last night over Marion Harding, 7-5—on three singles.

It was the fifth straight triumph for the undefeated Lympermen, although their season total of safeties is a meager 19. Seven came in one game.

Last night's victory, as most of the previous ones, was accomplished by the simple method of waiting for the other team to crack. Marion obliged in the third and fourth innings by gifts of six walks, four errors, two wild pitches, and one passed ball.

TALLY 4 CHEAPLY

All but two of the walks and two of the errors came in the third when the Bengals tallied four times without a hit. All the Tyger runs were unearned and scored with two men out.

Mansfield had some hard luck in the first frame as the home team got away to a three-run lead. Lou Gregorio, who won his third game of the year, walked Roseberry to open the ball game. After Rae grounded out, Thomas got a life on a "very questionable" decision. He popped high in front of the plate but stood in the batter's box until Catcher Joe Miller was about to catch the ball.

He then started for first, bumped Miller, and kicked the ball all the way to Second-Baseman Shelly Swank when Miller let it fall. Thomas took first base and Roseberry third when the arbiter refused to call interference. Coach Jimmy Lymper led a five-minute rhubarb to no avail.

CLOUTS HOME RUN

Gregorio was obviously rattled and Ralston, big Marion first-baseman, clouted a home run which stuck beneath the center-field fence. Corky Perrine finally fished it out but too late. Marion's other runs were legitimate, both coming on two solid base-hits.

Here's how the Tygers scored, or rather were given, their runs: Perrine struck out to open the third but was safe when Seiter, Marion catcher, let the ball get away for one of his four errors. Swank flew to center and Watts grounded out, but the next four men were given bases on balls. Perrine and Miller scored on wild pitches, Gruber came home on a passed ball, and Gross scored from second when the catcher threw wild in attempting to get Gruber at home. After Merle Daum had relieved Don Johnson, Charley Marchant popped out to end the frame.

SAME OLD STORY

The fourth was much the same story. With two men out, Swank and Watts walked, and Joe Miller singled off the third-baseman's glove to load the bases. Roseberry kicked Gruber's grounder to let in one run, Seiter let Gross' third strike get away for another, and Phil Rogers drove in the last with a single. Marchant struck out to again end the inning.

Ohio State Offers Unique Sport Carnival Saturday

By JOHN BARRINGTON

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Sheer curiosity is the ace-in-the-hole with which Ohio State university hopes to attract 30,000 customers to its unique spring sports carnival Saturday.

OSU officials expect that many admissions when they present a dual track meet between Wisconsin and Ohio, then follow with the annual Scarlet and Gray intra-squad spring football game.

Chances are most of that crowd will be on hand (a) to see for themselves just how good this Buck track team is, and (b) to discover just how bad the 1948 football edition is likely to be.

Simultaneously, a baseball game with Indiana and a tennis match with Purdue will be going on in the shadow of the sprawling Ohio stadium.

Chief interest, however, will center within the stadium.

STRONG THINLIES

Coach Larry Snyder's track and field combination, even stronger than when it won the Big Nine indoor title, will be making its second and last home appearance of the year.

The Bucks are heavy favorites in the Western conference outdoor meet May 28-29. More important in this Olympic year, they have at least three young men who are expected to wear U. S. colors in England this summer.

That trio is composed of Lloyd Duff, hurdler, broad jumper and pole vaulter extraordinary; Mal Whitfield in the 440 and 880, and Bill Clifford in the mile.

The football game which serves as nightcap for the afternoon's activities actually won't prove a thing about what Buck fans can expect next fall from Wesley Fesler's second OSU eleven.

Two of Fesler's backfield kingpins—Alex Verdova and Pete Perini—will be performing outside the horseshoe stadium with the Buck baseball team. Aside from that fact, injuries have been so thick in the Buck camp this spring that a number of other top-flight men will be sidelined.

MANY INJURIES

Fullback Joe Whisler has been bothered by an obstreperous appendix. Halfback Mike Cannavino and 1947 regular End Jimmy Hague have shoulder separations. Sonny Gandee, promising freshman end, and Tackle Bill Edwards have broken fingers, and Ed Basinger, another fine frosh flank prospect, also is crippled.

The grid contest will climax Ohio's annual two-day coaching clinic. Fesler is expected to unveil a somewhat revamped offense with emphasis equally divided between the T and a new type single wing.

There will also be a lot of interest in the testing of Halfback Jerry Krall, who missed all last season with a knee injury, together with the shift of Ends Dave Bonnie and Curly Morrison to fullback and Dick Slager from quarterback to halfback.

Newman Wins Section Title In Grade Loop

Newman won the northern division championship of the grade school softball league yesterday with a 7-4 victory over West Fifth. The southern division title race ended in a deadlock between Hedges and Woodland and will be settled by a playoff.

Carpenter upset previously undefeated Hedges, 5-4, to give Woodland, which had finished its season, a tie for the lead. In the other game played yesterday Prospect smothered Brinkerhoff, 22-0.

Big League Baseball Heads For Record; Giants' Dave Koslo Blanks Reds, 5 to 0

By LES CONKLIN

NEW YORK —(INS)— Major league baseball is heading for a new attendance record as the opening intersectional engagements get under way in both leagues this afternoon and tonight.

Thus far, the attendance has been approximately 19,000 per game. If this rate is maintained, the total attendance figure for both leagues this year will be slightly more than 23,000,000, as compared to last season's total of 19,874,539.

FRESH INTEREST

Fresh fan interest will be provided by the state of intersectional warfare, which today finds the eastern clubs in the National league invading the west, and the eastern teams in the American league playing host to their western rivals.

In the National league, Brooklyn plays the St. Louis Cardinals and Pittsburgh entertains the Boston Braves in night games. The Phillies tackle the Cubs at Chicago this afternoon. The Reds and Giants have the day off.

In the American league, Washington again will play at night, entertaining the Chicago White Sox. In afternoon games, the New York Yankees play host to the St. Louis Browns. Detroit invades Boston, and Philadelphia fans will see the league-leading Cleveland Indians play the Athletics.

Bucky Harris, manager of the Yankees, said that he figures the Red Sox are the boys to beat, with Cleveland next in line. Although Yankee pitching is ragged, Harris rates his pitching staff equal to Boston's.

The pennant prospects of the second-place New York Giants in the National league were improved last night when they blanked Cincinnati, 5 to 0, and moved up to within a few percentage points of the idle Pittsburgh Pirates, who are leading the senior circuit.

Dave Koslo, once a crack southpaw, turned in his second brilliant comeback effort when he held the Reds to four hits. The Giants now have three good hurlers in Koslo, Larry Jansen and Sheldon Jones.

Jack Lohrke starred at bat for the winners. He started a three-run rally with a single in the fifth, which was climaxed by Bobby Thompson's two-run single, and knocked in another run in the sixth with his third straight hit of the game.

The St. Louis Cardinals jumped to third place, passing the idle Brooklyn Dodgers, by defeating the Chicago Cubs, 3 to 1. Jim Hearn, backing up his first triumph of the season, won a 3 to 1 duel from the unfortunate Johnny Schmitz.

2 Teams Tie For Lead In Stove League

The Drivers and the Duffers were all even after yesterday's round of play in the Tappan Golf league at Possum Run. The two teams were tied for the lead with 10 points each.

Al Hager and Henry Miller, playing against one another, turned in the best golf of the night. Hager shot a 41 over the par 36 course while Miller's score was 43.

Other standings are: Blind Bogies 9½, Grass Cutters 9, Turf Diggers 9, Whiffers 9, Putters 8½, Fade-Outs, 8, Bunkers, 4, Dubbers 3½, Bladers 3, Rough Pushers 3, 19th Holers 3, Slicers 2½, Goffers 2, Elbow Benders 2, Hook Shots 0.

Cleveland Indians Ready For Joust With Athletics

PHILADELPHIA — (INS) — The Cleveland Indians rumbled into Philadelphia today, a grouchy and disgruntled crew.

And probably so much the worse for the A's. When happy, the Tribe is a match for any team in the American league. When on the warpath, there's no telling what might develop—especially against the Athletics.

There is no lost love between Connie Mack's crew and the Tribesmen, especially since the A's have sneaked into second place.

If Cleveland's first eastern swing is to be a success, it will be necessary for the Tribe to take the Philadelphia series, as well as the Washington jousts. In Boston and New York, the best Cleveland can hope for is an even break.

3 TOP HURLERS

Manager Lou Boudreau of the Indians has named his three top hurlers to toil in the Philadelphia clashes. Bob Muncrief was slated to go today, with Bob Feller and Bob Lemon slated to get the nod tomorrow and Thursday.

Connie Mack has indicated he will start Bill McCahan, Phil Marchildon and probably Carl Sheib, three rugged right-handers from Mack's effective hurling corps.

The Tribe boss said yesterday he will stand by his choice of Larry Doby in right field, despite two poor showings by the young colored lad in Cleveland's last two home games.

Boudreau yesterday released Infielder-Catcher Ray Boone to Hollywood of the Pacific Coast league.

Junior Highs, Galion Battle In Track Meet

The first meeting of the year of the two local junior high track teams will be held tomorrow at Stadium field with Galion becoming the "third party" in a triangular meet. The two Mansfield schools meet again at the close of the season, May 27.

On the basis of past performances, John Simpson should place well in the meet since the Bulldogs looked impressive in beating Ashland, their only opponent thus far. Johnny Appleseed, on the other hand, has lost to both the Ontario varsity and the Mt. Vernon reserves.

Past records usually have little meaning however, when the two arch rivals meet in any sport. Little is known about the power of the Galion team.

Twelve events will be run. There will be no mile run or relay, and only the 120 low hurdles.

Annual Elementary School Track Meet Is Scheduled

Approximately 200 athletes from Mansfield's ten elementary schools will converge on Stadium field at 3 p. m. Thursday for the annual grade school track meet.

Seven events are to be run with distance events being held down because of the age of the youths. Events will be: 60-yard hurdles, 50-yard dash, 440-yard relay, shot put, pole vault, running broad jump, and high jump.

Three boys from each school may enter any event and each boy will be limited to three events, only two of which may be track. Ribbons will be awarded to the first five places in each event.

Members of the Senior high track squad are to serve as officials. Scoring will be the same as in a regular meet.

Sande Faces Jury Action

NEW YORK—(AP)—Earl Sande, the famous jockey of the '20s and early '30s who now owns and trains his own horses, faced federal grand jury action today on a charge of illegal possession of narcotics.

The charge was made U. S. Attorney J. Vincent Keogh said, after one of Sande's horses, Big Stage, was found to have been drugged when it won a race at Jamaica April 21, paying $12.40 for $2.

Sande, 49 years old, was arraigned yesterday before U. S. Commissioner Edward E. Fay. He waived examination and was released without bail.

Dye Tops Keglers With 561 Series

Martha Dye, Mitsch's Corner store, kayoed 561 pins on the Colony slides last night to pace the Women's Variety league. She had games of 171, 186 and 204.

Second honors went to Betty Bishop, also of Mitsch's, with 168-171-183—522. Mary McIntire, Veterans Cab, had 137-175-195—507. The league-leading Larimore Realty team lost two of three to Shumaker Drugs.

Board Plans New Bridge

County commissioners said today they would meet with Butler village officials at the courthouse next Saturday to discuss plans to rebuild Butler's Union street bridge.

The old structure was damaged in flood waters more than two weeks ago. The commissioners viewed the site Saturday and discussed plans for financing the proposed new bridge.

County Engineer Walter E. Rusk estimated that a new timber bridge would cost $7,500, using treated timber. Using cheaper materials cost would come to $5,500, Rusk said, but that would be considered a temporary structure.

Junior Blue-Tri Honors Mothers

Mothers of Junior Blue-Tri members were honored with a tea and program last night at the YWCA.

The various activities of the club during the year were presented in playlet form by the members. Also presented was a musical interlude by the Junior Blue-Tri club trio composed of Jean Robinson, Betty Gorsuch and Patricia Jackson. Accompanied by Martha Shiplet at the piano, the girls offered the "Y-Teen Song," and "For My Mother."

Mrs. Richard Harrison, adviser for the club, presided at the tea table. Chairman of the tea was Marilyn Klee, assisted by Anita King, Marilyn Bell and Miss Gorsuch.

Also meeting last night at the heard an account of the romantic city of New Orleans by Mrs. Harry Longsdorf who recently visited there. Senior club members are now completing plans for their Mothers' party for next Monday night.

Church Council Meeting Set

An organization meeting for the proposed coordinating council of churches and social agencies of Richland county will be held May 24 at the First Methodist church, Rev. Charles W. Stoneburner, chairman, said today.

At that time definite plans will be decided as to the organization of such a council, which was launched with a meeting of ministers, laymen and agency representatives several weeks ago.

In the final organization plans, the pastor, two adult laymen and one young person from each church will be appointed to the council in addition to social agency representatives.

Road Vacation Plea Denied

County commissioners have denied a petition, calling for vacation of the Preston road in Plymouth township because of protests from landowners.

Protests also were received from landowners in Crawford county. Part of Preston road in Crawford county had been vacated but 1,500 feet from the Richland-Crawford county line west had not been vacated.

Commissioners said they had been under the impression that the entire road had been vacated. The protesting farmers said they used the road to move their machinery.

County Delays Paint Contract

Awarding of a contract for painting the exteriors of the buildings at the Richland County Home has been deferred by the county commissioners until Wednesday.

Commissioners said they wanted to confer with the low bidder, Arthur Painting company of Akron, which offered to do the work for $3,000, providing both paint and labor.

The job calls for painting the exteriors of the main building, chicken house, hog house, a garage, wagon shed, slaughter house, main barn, straw barn and tenant house.

IN MEMORIAM
IN MEMORY of our loving son, Charles Junior Boyce, who was killed May 4, 1947
Somewhere back of the sunset,
Where loveliness never dies
He dwells in a land of glory,
Near God and the deep blue skies
But some day we hope to meet him
When our days, too are o'er
On the beautiful Isle of Somewhere
Where sorrows are no more.
Friends may think we have forgot you,
When they see us smile
Little do they know our sorrow,
That is hid behind our smile
Sadly missed by his family

Court Ends 'White Only' Land Pacts

Reopens Movie Chain Case

WASHINGTON -- (AP) -- The Supreme court ruled Monday that real estate agreements which bar Negroes and other minority groups from "white neighborhoods" cannot be enforced in court.

The decision means that if a Negro or a member of any other minority group succeeds in buying property covered by such an agreement, the sale is valid and the power of the law cannot be used to put him out.

Property owners remain free to make such restrictive covenants among themselves, but the agreements henceforth have no standing in court, and need not be observed.

Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson handed down the unanimous decision in behalf of six justices. Three did not participate in the case.

The court also delivered two blows at monopoly in the movie industry.

It sent back to a lower court, with a forceful suggestion for stiffer restrictions, the government's 10-year-old anti-trust suit against eight big movie firms.

They had been found guilty of trying to monopolize the business of showing films. But the lower court ruled that they didn't succeed.

By a 6 to 1 vote, the high court told the lower court to look again, and suggested that perhaps it would be advisable to order the movie companies to sell some of the theaters they now own. The lower court had merely forbidden further expansion.

The Supreme court okayed parts of the lower court decision which forbid block booking of films and forbid fixing of theater admissions in film-rental agreements.

The eight companies involved in this anti-trust suit are Paramount, 20th Century Fox, Loew's, Warner Bros., R-K-O, Universal, Columbia and United Artists.

Police Hold 'Tough Mob'

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Four ex-convicts, called "the toughest mob" ever faced by local police, have been arrested in Toledo, Fremont, and Cincinati for questioning in the $10,000 Ritz club holdup here Jan. 23.

Sheriff Ralph Paul returned three of the four from Toledo Monday afternoon following the arrest of the alleged ringleader there a few hours earlier.

Sheriff Paul said pictures of the four had been identified by victims of the holdup. Some jewelry has been recovered, he added. Although the robbery was listed as a $10,000 holdup, some victims estimated at the time as much as $40,000 was taken.

Sheriff Paul identified the men as George McGhan, 61, who has a long record as a bank robber and safe burglar; Howard "Ace" Bowman, bank robber and brother of Neal Bowman, who died in the Kentucky electric chair; William Green, 29, a fugitive from the Mansfield reformatory; and Walter Flory, 37, of Cincinnati, on parole from a life term for a bank holdup.

McGhan was arrested early today by Toledo city detectives, he said. Bowman and Green were arrested by the FBI two weeks ago in Fremont and held secretly in the Lucas county jail at Toledo, he said. He said McGhan was the ringleader.

Paul added that he himself nabbed Flory at a lodge headquarters in Cincinnati by posing as an automobile insurance adjuster.

"This is the toughest gang we've ever been up against," Paul declared.

Bishops Given Salary Hike By Methodist Conference

BOSTON — (UP) — Salary increases from $7,500 to $9,000 a year for all active Methodist bishops were granted Monday.

The increases, which will prevail for the next four years, were voted at the church's quadrennial general conference The vote followed 20 minutes' debate on the motion of Charles A. Jones of Columbus, O., chairman of the world service and finance committee.

Jones said the increases were necessary because the cost of living in the nation had risen 33 per cent since 1944.

Proposals to keep the salaries at $7,500 and to increase them to $10,000 were voted down

The conference voted to increase from $3,000 to $3,600 the annual allowance of retired bishops

Meanwhile, the 758 world delegates received a report from the Methodist race relations commission, calling on the church to fight racial discrimination.

The report urged the church's 20,000,000 members to fight "the deep seated custom of race separation in schools, churches, hospitals and community settlements."

It was recommended that the church continue its policy of holding meetings only at hotels and restaurants where accommodations are extended to all delegates on an equal basis

The commission's proposals were turned over to the state-of-the-church committee, which has other controversial topics on its agenda

The report was presented to the conference as delegates began consideration of committee findings on topics ranging from temperance to communism. The conference's 14 committees have met daily for five days.

Also given to the conference was the board of lay activities report, which asked as a four-year objective a program to increase church attendance by 50 per cent.

Sun's Energy Harnessed To Supply Water on Island

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Virgin islands are about to witness an ambitious attempt to harness the energy of the sun.

St. John, smallest and driest of the three main islands, soon may implement its fresh water supply by siphoning salt water out of the ocean and distilling it with the sun's heat Up to now, rain has been the only practical source of fresh water there.

Garland Rounds, federal works agency engineer, says 125 solar distilling units will be installed on the island this summer. They will be of a new type with production quota of 1,000 gallons of fresh water a day.

The units, looking like skylights, will be eight feet long and four feet wide. They will be perched on elevators so that the fresh water will flow by gravity to the consumer They were developed at Massachusetts Institute of Technology by Dr. Maria Telks and consist of:

1. A level concrete base covered with inch-thick insulating board. The upper surface is waterproofed with a black substance to absorb the sun's radiations.

2. A basin half an inch to an inch deep for salt water, atop the black board surface.

3. A plastic cover to collect vapor rising from the sun-heated pool.

4 Troughs to collect the condensed moisture and send it through pipes to storage.

Dr. Telks estimates the new units will have an efficiency of almost 60 per cent. Rounds said the efficiency of earlier types was as low as 25 or 30 per cent.

Holmes Jury Indicts Six

MILLERSBURG — Six indictments were returned yesterday by the Holmes county grand jury, which heard eight cases and examined 11 witnesses. Two of the indictments were secret.

It congratulated Mr and Mrs Wayne D Starner, sheriff and matron, on the cleanliness and good condition of both the jail and the living quarters. It recommended that the two north bedrooms and the hall downstairs be papered and also that the courthouse be redecorated completely.

Indictments made public were Harlan Gilt, larceny, accused of having stolen a truck body from Ralph Jordan; Alva Mohler, driving while intoxicated, Atlee Reidenbach, two counts, one for breaking and entering, and one for non-support; Gerald Dix, larceny, alleged to have taken a suit of clothes from Ralph Carter; Darel Hall, forgery of two checks, and W. Church Sets $20,000 as Repair Goal

First Methodist Asks $7,000 This Year

A three-year plan for improvement and repair of the First Methodist church will be submitted for approval during an every-member campaign scheduled to start with Loyalty Sunday at the church on May 16

The plan calls for an approximate expenditure of $20,000. Of this amount $7,000 will be included in the church budget for this next year.

Last year the church spent $4,600 for a new furnace, raising the funds in a campaign apart from the regular budget campaign.

The program calls for pointing of the masonry, painting and redecorating, and remodeling of the kitchen, dining room and rest rooms, Rev Charles W. Stoneburner, pastor, said today.

Preceding Loyalty Sunday, 35 women of the church will call by telephone each family of the church in an effort to have each family represented at the special May 16 program. Those who are not able to make the May 16 service will be called on in their homes later, Rev. Stoneburner said.

Louis Jisa as chairman of the finance committee, and Harold Mansfield, as chairman of the every-member campaign, will head the project.

In the early days of railroads, locomotives were regarded with suspicion because many people believed human beings could not stand the speed

Oleo Tax Repeal Measure Heads for Showdown In Senate

Compromise Discussions Break Down

Solons Disagree On Committee

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Compromise efforts of butter and margarine interests collapsed today, sending the issue of repealing federal oleo taxes to a preliminary showdown on the senate floor this afternoon.

The first Senate round on the House-passed measure centered about the technical question of whether the bill should go direct to the calendar, and thus be ready for floor action, or whether it should be sent to the agriculture or finance committees for possible hearings.

Putting the measure on the calendar would be only a tentative victory for senators from regions producing ingredients for margarine, since a move to take it off the calendar and send it to a committee is certain.

The real issue is whether it will go eventually to the agriculture committee, which dairy state senators hope would vote to retain the margarine tax, or the finance committee, in which southern senators, from the vegetable oil region, hope would report a bill more favorable to them.

Compromise efforts broke down when dairy-state senators refused to consider any compromise that would not involve sending the bill to the agriculture group.

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.), an agriculture committee member and a state senator, called "Margarine state" senators into a conference. He offered a plan whereby his group would not oppose margarine too strenuously if provisions were enacted to require the "identification" of margarine when served in public places.

Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.), spearheading the "oleomargarine" group, turned down Aiken's proposal. He is confident of votes to repeal the tax without concessions to the dairy group.

Aiken announced later that the group failed to reach an agreement as to which committee should get the measure, but indicated that in any event he and three other agriculture committee senators stand ready to compromise on details of the bill.

He said, however, that they would insist that the agriculture committee handle the bill.

The agriculture committee claimed jurisdiction because, Aiken declared "this is simply and purely a regulatory measure." Fulbright claimed jurisdiction for the finance committee because, he said, the existing oleo tax law is "for raising revenue."

10th of Vote Cast Early

publican votes was forecast for Ohio as a whole as the party decided how many—if any—of Ohio's 53 presidential nominating delegates Harold E. Stassen can wrest from Senator Robert A. Taft.

Stassen had hand-picked 11 districts—mostly in the industrial sections of northern Ohio—for his assault on the home defenses of the senator wrom Democrats have dubbed "Mr. Republican" because of his GOP congressional leadership.

Upwards of 750,000 Republicans were expected to file into Ohio polling places. All had a chance to vote for at least one Stassen delegate candidate.

He is Carrington T. Marshall, former state supreme court justice, running in a field of 10 at-large candidates.

Since all of Marshall's opponents favored Taft, the Ohio senator was sure of at least eight at-large delegates. His men were unopposed in 11 other district races in which 22 delegates are chosen. Stassen had no district delegates on the Richland county ballot.

With this 30 as a nest egg, Taft's camp maintained that Stassen would be squeezed out with a handful of delegates. Any such result was calculated to revive Taft's dampened hopes that he can win the GOP nomination at Philadephia. Politicians said Stassen's failure to get 10 or more would black-mark his shining record of primary vote victories in Wisconsin, Nebraska and Pennsylvania.

Stassen remained confident he will capture at least 12 of the 23 places he is contesting. Ohioans generally conceded any such result might put Taft on the sidelines as a presidential contender, but leave him in command of a considerable number of delegates from other states.

Rails, Industrials Attract Bids Despite Profit Cashing

NEW YORK —(AP)—Rails and industrials attracted further sound bids in today's stock market despite the persistence of profit cashing on the lengthy upswing.

Belief that inflationary psychology will keep business going at a high level for some time to come again inspired much of the demand.

Stern Gang Halts Truce

JERUSALEM — (INS) — The Jewish Stern gang announced cessation of their truce with the British in Palestine today.

A statement issued in Tel Aviv said:

"Our direct war against the British enemy will be renewed."

The communique, regarded as a reply to arrival of British reinforcements in the Holy Land, said the aim of the Stern group will be to prove British inability to maintain law and order.

Whether the two largest Jewish groups, Haganah and Irgun Zvai Leumi, would follow the Stern gang's lead was not known immediately.

The Tel Aviv announcement came as Jewish sources reported attacks by Arab legion tanks and artillery on four Zionist settlements in the Hebron hills south of Jerusalem.

The Jews also alleged a new Lebanese army infiltration in the north.

The community of Kfar Etzion, midway between Jerusalem and Hebron, was reported severely damaged by a heavy artillery barrage.

Jews said a counterattack by Haganah militiamen was expected momentarily.

The Arabs were said to be occupying an abandoned Russian monastery near Kfar Etzion, from which they were launching their attacks

2 Concerns Offer Bids On Bonds

Toledo Firm Submits Better Offer

The firm of Brown, Bosworth and company, Toledo, submitted the lower of two bids opened at the city building at noon today for the purchase of $1,200,000 second mortgage waterworks revenue bonds.

The money to be provided by the bond issue will be used to complete the Clear Fork waterworks project. Specific items to be built are a low-lift pumping station, a raw water pipe line and a filtration plant.

The Toledo company, which represented eight other firms, including Stranahan, Harris and company, purchasers of the city's first two waterworks bond issues, underbid the firm of Paine, Weber, Jackson and Curtis, Cleveland by approximately $3,200.

The Cleveland firm, representing seven other bond concerns, offered to purchase $1,094,000 worth of the bonds at 2½ per cent interest and the remaining $106,000 at 2½ per cent interest and to pay a premium of $33.

Brown, Bosworth and company bid on the entire $1,200,000 at 2¾ per cent, but offered a premium of $7,111.

In effect, therefore, the Cleveland firm agreed to buy a portion of the bonds at a lower interest rate, the $7,111 premium offered by Brown, Bosworth and company, lowers the over-all interest rate and would save the city about $3,200.

The Toledo firm also agreed to print the bonds, furnish the necessary legal opinions and pay for the preparation of the indenture book which lists the rules of the loan and the property thereby mortgaged.

City council will hold its monthly session tonight when it is expected to authorize sale of the securities.

Post Office Business Up

A 29 percent increase in receips from the sale of stamps and stamped envelopes in Mansfield last month as compared with the same months last year was reported today by Acting Postmaster Curtis L. Ford.

Last month's postal receipts totaled $51,000 which brings the four-month total to more than $194,000, an increase of $25,000 over the corresponding period last year.

Ford reported that the April revenue, following on the heels of a March business that amounted to $50,000, marks the first time that the Mansfield postoffice has done more than $50,000 worth of business in March and April.

Bank Figures Near Record

Mansfield bank clearings last month fell slightly under the record set in March, the Clearing House association reported today.

April clearings totaled $20,272,955, about $600,000 below the March record total.

Clearings, however, were far above the $18,070,776 reported in April last year.

Market Acts To Force Price Cut

In a move to push the milk price down in Mansfield, the Sternbaum supermarket on Springmill street has dropped its quart price to 19 cents, a cent under the prevailing figure in the city.

"We felt milk prices should come down," Carl Sternbaum, the owner, said. "I just came back from a trip through the east where I found that milk was selling from 18 to 19 cents. We feel that good weather and lots of rain has put cows out to pasture and should bring the prices down very soon. Even if the dairies don't like it, we feel they'll be forced to drop the prices."

PAGE FOUR — MANSFIELD, OHIO, TUESDAY, May 4, 1948

It sometimes seems that the old saying, "We live and learn," has also become rather outmoded.

Better keep the old car awhile longer—who knows, maybe it will soon have added value as an antique.

Chemists now claim that good whisky can be made from wood—which further complicates the already acute lumber shortage.

'Safe Drivers' Are Welcome Here

THOSE SIGNS, "Mansfield Welcomes Safe Drivers", being placed on highways entering this city, express the hospitality of Mansfield as it applies to all well-behaved people—a community asset that has been of inestimable value in making a favorable impression upon newcomers and visitors alike.

Mansfield's restriction of welcome to "safe drivers" is sufficiently clear to convey the information that transient UNsafe drivers are not welcome—as few things are more annoying than to see the driver of an out-of-state car disregard traffic lights and speed limits while passing through the city.

But why should this be considered more objectionable than for local or vicinity motorists to commit the same violations of traffic regulations designed for community safety? The fact is that it is safe driving by EVERYONE that should be emphasized, and the action taken by the local AFL Teamsters Union to promote a highway safety program among truck drivers merits commendation and co-operation.

Mansfield is just now in the midst of efforts to work out some practicable plans for improving traffic-handling methods in various parts of the city, with special attention to downtown areas in which parking facilities are inadequate. Just what will come of this is not yet clear, but it is obvious that a growing city needs give more attention to present and future traffic problems than has yet been done.

Decision Rules Out Uniform Pricing

UNIFORM or "multiple basing point" pricing systems are illegal under a decision of the Supreme Court. These are pricing systems under which goods are priced uniformly throughout the country, by agreement within industry, regardless of variations in transportation and other handling costs.

The ruling, made in a case against the Cement Institute and 74 cement companies, holds that such price control hampers competition, results in price discrimination, and is an unfair trade practice, under the law. It is expected to give the government a potent weapon against many industries whose products now are sold at standard delivered prices from Maine to California.

Although the commission now can enforce its order that the cement industry give up uniform pricing, no very immediate results in other lines of goods appear likely. The cement case had been in litigation for twelve years, three of which were required for the gathering of the data on which the government based its case.

The price of cement, or any other product which in time may be affected, will not necessarily decrease. As uniform pricing systems are broken up, prices should fall at points near the source of supply and rise at more distant points. The reform may seem good or bad, depending on location.

Religious Education Is Essential

DISCONTINUANCE of religious education in public schools, as required by a recent United States Supreme Court decision, places an added responsibility on parents and churches—if, as is quite generally conceded, religious understanding is an essential part of every well-rounded education.

Discussion of this subject at the first of a series of Sunday evening "town meetings" brought out a number of interesting points which may well be given further study as a substitute is being sought for the method of religious instruction that has been in vogue here and in other cities.

The line of demarcation between generalized religious instruction and the teaching of "ethics, morals, history and culture," referred to by Mrs. Charles Ray, who has been religious education teacher in the city schools, becomes indistinct at times, and the Supreme Court could scarcely have meant that public schools would be required to eliminate everything that touched even lightly on the spiritual development of children.

As Superintendent of Schools W. L. Miller said in Sunday evening's panel discussion, "our teachers teach good ethics and morals every day in their classes and they are themselves fine examples."

This is as it should be, and a teacher whose conduct is such as to provide other than a good example in ethics and morals is wrongly placed in that profession.

There is, however, a need for actual religious teaching of young people—a need that is partially met by each of the church organizations but which is not sufficiently expansive to reach all of the children in the community, and it is extension of this service to the limits of its potentialities that now seems advisable in meeting the newly created situation.

Texas Chemist Trying Grass Diet

WITH FOOD prices still going up, the Torn plan may become popular. Elmore R. Torn of Taylor, Tex., an industrial chemist, is living almost exclusively on grass. Not the regular grass that grows in the chinks in the sidewalk, but a special kind of dehydrated cereal grass which Torn has discovered.

He has now lived on it for over six weeks, supplementing the grass by enough other food to give him 600 calories a day, which is well below the accepted minimum.

His health is better, he reports, and it does cut a hole in the grocery bill. If prices keep going up, Torn's local post office may need an extra letter carrier to bring all his letters of inquiry.

Foreign Aid Appropriations May Be Cut

WASHINGTON — The administration's foreign aid program that went through Congress without impairment, due to public indignation over Russian aggressive moves in Czechoslovakia and Finland, and the Italian pre-election situation, still faces its toughest hurdle.

Only one billion of the 5 3 billion dollars authorized has thus far become available. The Foreign Aid Act was only an authorization. Congress must still draw up and approve an appropriation bill providing specific funds for the vast number of projects to be undertaken.

This measure is under the jurisdiction of the Republican party's chief Treasury watchdog and economy advocate — Chairman John Taber, of New York, of the House appropriations committee.

Taber, whose reputation in Congress swings on his ability and determination to save money, is quietly sharpening his well-publicized axe in anticipation of the job facing him.

There is little doubt in informed Washington circles that actual appropriations for foreign aid will be trimmed somewhat. The cut may be deeper than expected, though, in view of the changed world situation which now confronts Congress. Public interest is no longer enlivened by a picture of communism actually taking over or threatening new European countries.

One further factor points to curtailed foreign aid appropriations — the additional funds required to build up national defense threaten to throw the budget out of balance. The GOP will not have that this election year.

More Labor Storms.

OUTSIDE the annual spring coal crisis, government experts had 1948 pegged as a quiet year on the labor front, but they are revising the forecast. It looks like stormy weather ahead.

Federal labor men had predicted speedy settlement of union wage demands along the lines of a 10 or 12-cent hourly increase pattern adopted in many small plants.

The prediction has not materialized in the big mass production industries. First, a strike broke in the packing industry when the nine-cent increase was turned down.

Then ship owners refused any pay boost and Big Steel followed suit. Chrysler, first of the auto firms to negotiate, offered only six cents an hour. A strike appears likely.

Worst of all, another railroad strike was scheduled to begin May 11.

Aircraft Production

OVERLOOKED in all the discussion about increasing the Air Force is the necessity for rebuilding America's aircraft production industry, which has been almost dismantled since the war.

Best-informed members of Congress, like Rep. Carl Hinshaw (R), California, stress the production angle rather than the push for a 70-group Air Force.

Hinshaw, vice chairman of the congressional aviation policy board, points out that the services currently are receiving new planes at the rate of 21,000,000 airframe pounds a year and withdrawing 43,000,000 pounds from war-surplus storage. Under the 70-group program, regarded necessary for adequate air defense, procurement will have to be boosted to 111,000,000 pounds a year.

It will take three years, according to the experts, to rebuild the once-booming industry back to where it can turn out that much aircraft poundage.

High Cost of Illness.

Editor News-Journal:

Last Thursday an editorial appeared in your paper on "Socialized Medicine" in which you talk about doctors being assigned to the patient, etc. Let me quote from the testimony of Dr Mountin before the Senate committee: 'S 1606 (National Health Bill) seems to me to preserve the freedoms of American medicine. When an insured person is sick or feels the need of medical care he will be able to go to a physician or dentist of his own choice. There will be no official "authorization" for service of any kind he will go directly to his doctor as he does now. Only the problem of paying the bill out of his own pocket at the time will be eliminated."

Voluntary health plans are too expensive for most people. Benefits are limited and the subscriber has no protection against most of the costs of illness. In most plans no preventive care is provided for.

Blue Cross plans in conjunction with doctors' plans are good but these benefits are also limited, they only pay the hospital bill and the surgeon and they don't cover the fee of any other physician required and they don't pay doctor bills in cases that don't require use of the hospital.

TVA Animosities Survive

By THOMAS L. STOKES

PRESIDENT TRUMAN has chosen to make an issue with the Republican Congress on two vital current matters, each of which deeply involves both our domestic and foreign policy at a critical time. His position seems sure to win wide public support.

One is his renomination of the five-member Atomic Energy Commission for the full terms as provided by Congress in the atomic energy act which would assure continuity and efficient administration of this project so important to national defense as well as to development of this new form of energy for civilian purposes.

The other is his request for another three-year extension of the reciprocal tariff program. This he, himself, has described as the basis of our whole foreign policy and the European recovery act to which it is so intimately related.

It is certainly true that the lowering of tariffs and removal of trade barriers to restore and promote trade among nations are of the essence of economic recovery as well as the maintenance of peace.

How the Republican Congress disposes of these issues offers a good test of the party's ability to manage affairs of government in these times on a broad and statesmanlike basis, and the party is already busy with its campaign to get control of the government at the forthcoming election. Its attitude on these two issues thus becomes a matter of politics in the highest sense of the definition of politics as the art of government.

But unfortunately there is a smack of the lower order of politics in the way the Republican managers of Congress seem to be going about both of these matters, offering stop-gap solutions from which they may hope to gain some purely partisan advantage.

* * *

Back to TVA Enmity.

THE CRUX of the Atomic Energy Commission issue is David Lilienthal, its chairman. President Truman has asked a full five-year term for him. The appointments of all members of the commission expire in a few weeks under the original act which provides, however, that thereafter the terms shall be regulated on a staggering basis to provide continuity.

Republicans are proposing a one or two-year term for the chairman as a compromise. This woulde require amendment of the original act to fit a particular case, in short, special legislation.

The opposition to David Lilienthal centers about his former connection with the New Deal as chairman of TVA. In other words, his crime is that he was what is known as "a New Dealer."

TVA has been the target consistently of powerful interests in this country, led by the utilities, despite its outstanding success and the widespread approval of Mr. Lilienthal's management of it according to the best business principles.

His direction of the Atomic Energy commission likewise has won high commendation. But his foes are implacable, as they were over his appointment to the AEC originally.

At that time influential figures in the Republican party, including Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, president pro tempore of the Senate and chairman of the foreign relations committee, came staunchly to his support to win confirmation for him.

It would be most unfortunate if partisan politics should disrupt the work of this very important agency.

On the reciprocal tariff issue, Republicans have locked up the House ways and means committee in secret session to consider this matter, refusing requests for public hearings from all sorts of interested groups including business, consumers, labor and others.

The Republican plan here is for a one-year extension which would bring up the matter of renewal early in what Republicans confidently believe will be a Republican administration. Enemies of the program hope then to kill it off entirely or to cripple it seriously.

As Cerf Tells It

The latest pronouncement of Hollywood's greatest threat to the English language is, "That fellow's so generous he'd give you the pants off his back." Another associate didn't come off so lightly. "I don't trust him," said our hero flatly. "In fact, I watch him like a horse."

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Mrs. Roosevelt May Oppose Truman

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—If Mrs. Roosevelt does what her friends say she's going to do about Harry Truman it's going to be one of the hardest political blows the President has ever taken—also a big personal disappointment.

Only a few insiders know it, but President Truman has counted on Mrs. Roosevelt to help him swing his renomination. That was one thing he had in mind when he first appointed Mrs. R. to the United Nations.

Mrs. Roosevelt was first asked to be a delegate to UNESCO, the United Nations educational and cultural subsidiary. This she turned down. Then Secretary of State Jimmie Byrnes suggested to Truman that she be made a full U. S. delegate to the UN.

Truman was delighted with the idea. He remarked that it was important to keep the Roosevelt family affiliated with his administration and that this would have an important effect upon the Democratic convention when his own renomination came up.

Truman even took the trouble to call Mrs. Roosevelt himself so as to make sure she accepted the UN job.

Now, however, word from Roosevelt circles is that Mrs. R. will not only oppose Harry for renomination, but may have a friendly talk with him, urging him not to run.

Oil Lobby.

HARD-WORKING Senator Donnell of Missouri begins important hearings today on the most powerful lobby Washington has seen in a long time - tidelands oil.

Donnell and Harry Truman, both from Missouri, one a Republican and the other a Democrat, don't agree on a lot of things. But they do agree that the vast reserve of oil under the ocean bottom — namely tidelands oil—belongs to the federal government.

And if Donnell is able to uncover some of the big money that was put into Truman's campaign by the big oil boys who thought they were influencing future tidelands votes, then it should be noted to President Truman's credit that he remained true to his convictions, not his political friends.

There is one phase of the tidelands oil pressure group that bears especial attention. It is the fact that exactly the same gang which overcharged the U. S. Navy for Arabian oil, which finagled lush loans from the U. S. treasury for King Ibn Saud of Arabia, and which lobbied to kill the partition of Palestine, is now pulling wires to turn the rich tidelands oil reserve over to the coastal states—with considerable benefit to the oil companies.

In other words, Standard Oil of California and the Texas Oil company, backed by the Guaranty Trust company and various big bankers, are the real people to watch both in regard to the Arab lobby and tidelands oil. They go hand in hand.

Note—It's significant that the Wall Street firm of James V. Forrestal, now the most potent man in the cabinet, once handled the finances of Arab-American oil interests. Forrestal is the man who persuaded Truman to kill the partition of Palestine, thus leaving the United Nations and the Near East with about the worst international mess since the war ended.

Thomas's Speculations.

ONE of the most interesting figures among the unique assortment of characters who had the run of Oklahoma Senator Thomas's office at the height of his speculating days was Robert M. Harriss of the Harriss & Vose brokerage firm.

It was Bob Harriss who handled Father Coughlin's deals when he was speculating in silver and who also handled the cotton operations of Mrs. Elmer Thomas, the senator's wife.

Snuggling close to both Senator Thomas and Robert Harriss have been two state agricultural commissioners, A. E. MacDonald of Texas and Tom Linder of Georgia. Harriss has worked with both men on various cotton deals.

The way Senator Thomas's office has been used is somewhat like this:

When the senator from Oklahoma blasted proposals to control prices, naturally prices rose. When Thomas forecast good crops, prices dropped. When the senator made a speech on the proposed policy of the department of agriculture, the market reacted.

Advance knowledge of the senator's speeches naturally meant a windfall to men like Harriss. He could buy or sell cotton just before one of the senator's speeches.

Agricultural commissioners MacDonald and Linder of Texas and Georgia were also important in this respect. They are artists at making angry protests against farm legislation. These protests sometimes influence the commodity market.

Bob Harriss has been so successful on the market that he has built up a beautiful estate on Long Island reputedly worth a million dollars. The estate is called Barcarol.

Visiting him on this estate last summer were none other than Texas commissioner MacDonald and his wife. They were on a vacation trip to Canada. Before they left, MacDonald's good friend, Broker Harriss, went into Southampton along with MacDonald, stopped at the establishment of Walter Rutyner, automobile dealer, and they bought a shiny new car for MacDonald's vacation trip.

Assignment: America

Here's the Indictment

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON - This is what we used to call a "John Doe indictment" on the old courthouse beat.

That is to say, it merely sets forth the evidence and the charges of the crime or crimes committed—leaving the naming and accusing of actual individuals until late.

This is the indictment:

That certain British and American leaders have been either, (1) guilty of deliberately misleading their peoples on the facts of the Palestine situation, or, (2) unbelievably negligent in the gathering and evaluating of information about that situation.

This is the crime charged:

That, as a direct or indirect result, thousands have been unnecessarily slain in the Holy Land, and the situation there remains bloodily unsettled today, which could involve the world in another war.

This is the evidence:

During a period of approximately one month, from early February to early March of this year, this correspondent was in Palestine, talking to Jews, Arabs and British, and various other nations not involved directly in the situation. Also, he was using his own two eyes and ears in normal newsgathering fashion.

* * *

As Viewed Then.

IN A series of stories, written during that time and in mid-March, I listed the following seemingly obvious conclusions:

1—That the Jews did not need the British soldiers to "protect" them from the Arabs. Actually, they were far safer where British troops did not operate, since they then could carry their arms openly.

2—That the much-vaunted Arab underground army in Palestine amounted to little, comparatively speaking, and would scarcely dare to tangle with the Jewish Haganah were the British not around.

3—That should such full-scale war actually erupt, in the immediate future, the vastly superior Haganah would unquestionably win all early battles—unless the Arabs received outside reinforcements.

4—That, contrary to almost all official reports, the majority of native Palestine Arabs are not fanatical anti-Zionists at all, but can live in complete peace with the Jews.

5—That, despite all these facts and all their protestations, the British (who at that time still stressed their need to "protect" the Jews) would not pull their troops out of Palestine on May 15.

6—That the British eventually would come out openly on the side of the Arabs—and that, as a result, the Jewish militia (Haganah) and the Jewist Extremist group of Irgun Zvai Leumi would join forces on at least some operations.

7—That if the British got out and the nearby Moslem states were ordered by the United Nations not to interfere, peace would return rapidly to Palestine and Arab and Jew would abide by the partition plan.

8—That former German army officers were training and leading Arab troops in attacks in Palestine, with full knowledge of the British.

* * *

As Has Happened Since.

THOSE were the conclusions. They were not particularly difficult to reach, nor were they spectacular—except for one thing.

They were flatly denied by most British and American leaders, who subsequently operated as though the exact opposite was true.

In view of those denials, let's look at the scoreboard. Every point but No. 7 (which was hypothetical and yet untested) has been proved or officially admitted.

Haganah has protected the Jewish communities better than the British did. Jewish troops have easily won every full-scale battle, except (at this writing) Jaffa, where British threw tanks, airplanes and artillery to the aid of the Arabs, and where, as a result, Haganah and the Irgun joined forces. (That handles points one, two, three and six.)

The other points are current history, where the fighting is not in progress. Jews and Arabs still live peaceably together. Instead of leaving, the British are bringing in bristling reinforcements; and the presence of Germans in Arab ranks has been confirmed.

Now all of this was learned by one American news correspondent in one month in Palestine—where the British have thousands of troops and intelligence agents, and America has countless military observers and intelligence operatives.

Yet, less than two months ago, all these things were angrily denied by British and American leaders, and our reversal of the U. S. stand on Palestine partition was based on just such now disproved denials.

So there's your John Doe indictment. You decide where the crime lies—whether we were being deliberately misled, or whether our leaders were being unbelievably negligent.

Time For Convalescing

By CALVIN A. BYERS

JUST occasionally, Nature, like a wise old friend, reveals a touch of beauty too wonderful for the silent nature lover to contain within himself.

This morning I sat for a while beneath the apple tree in our backyard just after the sun came up. The dew was profuse upon each apple leaf, and pink buds made a radiant showing. The burdened leafy hairs, dew-wet, reflected a miniature rainbow that floated off as the sunshine touched each petal. Slowly, with effort, I stood up.

It is an awesome thing to share such a vivid sunny morning with a rainbow tree. Only for those few moments, my whole day was joyful. Even as I watched, the warmth of sun dissipated the moisture and the wavering lines of fresh-washed blue, red and gold were gone.

But I had been there . . . "you come, too."

* * *

THE FARMER in the valley beyond the ridge does not know that the top of his high green hill speaks of him to me. He has lived there all his life, in a weathered old house and has farmed these hills with a team of mules and planted peach trees upon the slopes. He has cared for his aged mother—now in her ninetieth year—and has reared his family, a boy and a girl.

As a young man he went to the far Southwest of the purple sage and married a wife—a pretty Indian maid, a full blooded Navajo. Their daughter became a talented musician; their son made the drums talk to the hills in a masterful way. The busy Indian mother and the staunch grandmother combined their talents, their hopes and their faith in making a real home.

To see the house where this neighbor lives, you must follow a woodsy road to the end, and look down into the valley. I seldom get over that far. But every day I look up to the towering green hill that backs his place, and it makes me glad. When bees swarm he comes to help me hive mine. When melons are ripe, in the fall, he sends me word. He raises fine cantaloupes back there in that valley. And his mother's garden has been a joy to see.

There is something simple and strong, to me, about that high green hill.

WHEN a man lives beside a flowing spring, the water becomes so much a part of him that nothing else satisfies. He thirsts, when away, for one cool clear draught from home.

I watched a graceful loop of a weeping willow drop down upon the surface of a moving pool. It seemed, in vain, to try to hold the movement back. Yet every year the willow tree grows larger, and the water swirls beneath its shadow through the years.

Miss Beverly Callahan, 150 Chilton avenue, bride-elect of Irvin Meyers of Crestline, was honored recently with a bridal shower at the home of Mrs. Carl Hershey, 590 Woodville road.

The evening was spent making a bride's book and several contests were enjoyed. The prizes which were won by Miss Carol Reining and Mrs. Charles Callahan jr., were presented to the honoree.

Spring flowers were used as decorations and the shower gifts were arranged under an attractively decorated sprinkling can with blue and yellow streamers. A cake, with a miniature bride and groom, centered the small tables when the lunch was served at a late hour.

Miss Callahan and Mr. Meyers will exchange their wedding vows Saturday before the altar of the Main Street Evangelical United Brethren church.

Horoscope

For Wednesday, May 5

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

AN expansive and carefree urge to squander assets, funds, energies, all sorts of capital, forces, and resources, whether in home, investments, business or sentimental relations, could be ruinous and regrettable, with reactions on the private as well as public integrity. The desire to splurge or "show off" in any of these commitments, either through exaggerated generosity, over enthusiasm, or by extravagant and magnified plans and promises, could crown inflationary notions with dismal failure and regret. In home, affections, be conservative and prudent.

For the Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is have fair opportunity for increased scope and expanded monetary status by a conservative and economical slant on current propositions, promising and constructive, if prudently, carefully and reasonably managed and not jeopardized by inflationary notions, over-zealous plans or purely speculative plunges. Studied and conservative moves could avert loss and pitfalls, where extravagance, show or excess mislead. A similar danger besets the domestic, social and affectional relations, where false appearances, promises, or over acting may prove explosive. Separations, perhaps litigation, menace and harass.

A child born on this day may have extravagant, over expansive and inflationary ideas, with scant business instinct and much of the pretentious and prodigal in its personal relations.

Gamma Chapter Given Supper Party

The Gamma chapter of Tri Gamma chapter of Tri Gamma sorority held a buffet supper Saturday evening for their husbands at the home of Mrs. Gene Almy, Marlow road. Mrs. Robert Brollier and Mrs. James Henderson assisted the hostess. Twenty-eight guests were in attendance. Cards and games were the diversion of th evening.

The annual Mother's day dinner will be May 6 at the Richland Recreation with Mrs. John Lannon in charge. The programs were given to the members for their dance at the Sky Club on May 22.

MEET WEDNESDAY

The Bowman street Mothers' club will meet at the school Wednesday at 2 p. m. There will be election of officers.

Reciprocal Trade Pact Called Vital

Action Now Up To Republicans

By WALTER LIPPMANN

The next few weeks will bring a concrete and most significant test of the condition of the Republican party.

Will the men who are manifestly the most popular with the mass of the Republican voters—Stassen, Dewey and Vandenberg—be upheld or repudiated in the field of foreign policy by the Republican organization in Congress?

The test will come before June 12 on the question of exagreements act which expires on that day.

Since it was first passed in 1934, the act has four times come before Congress for renewal—in 1937, 1940, 1943 and 1945. On all these occasions it could fairly be said that, though there were many Republicans who supported it, it was a measure of the Democratic party, based on its traditional views in favor of moderate tariffs, and therefore one which the Republican party, long committed to high protection, could reasonably oppose.

But this is no longer the case. The Republican party can no longer oppose the extension of this act without repudiating its own solemn and precise commiments, now the law of the land and an integral and essenial part of the nation's foreign policy.

FAVORS COOPERATION

The economic cooperation act was passed by the Senate on March 13. The vote was 69 to 17. It was passed by the House on March 31. The vote was 329 to 74.

This law saye (Section 115) (B) (3) that the participating countries are required to conclude agreements with the United States providing among other things for co-operation "to reduce barriers to trade among themselves and with other countries." If the reciprocal trade agreements act is not renewed or is nullified by destructive amendment, this country will not be able to negotiate and conclude the agreements which the law of the economic co-operation act requires.

The law itself will have been nullified by the Congress which passed it. The great policy on which is staked so much of our hope of security and peace will have been repudiated. What Congress did with its right hand, it will have undone with its left. The damage will be irreparable. For by an act of this Congress, made after full deliberation, the good faith and honor of the nation are now fully and wholly engaged in carrying out the letter and the spirit of the European Recovery Program.

How could a default, a nullification, a repudiation be explained? How could the moral credit of the government in its dealings with foreign powers be restored?

On what ground should we then stand in opposing those who, having made solemn international commitments, resort to devious ways of evading, avoiding, and subverting them?

It must not be supposed, it cannot be presumed, that the Republicans in the House who are involved in this matter are conspiring to subvert the foreign policy of the United States. Almost certainly they have not yet understood what they are doing. They have not yet heard from the national leaders of their party, from the men among whom, if they expect to win the election, they will select their candidates.

These men are bound to speak to them promptly and unequivocally, and to make them realize that they are no longer dealing with the traditional domestic issue of high and low tariffs but with a crucial element of a policy in which the vital interest of the nation—its peace and its security—are directly involved.

ENTITLED TO SPEAK

The opponents of an extension of the act are, of course, entitled to make their case. But if they make their case in the open, we shall see that they are trying to protect themselves against imaginary injuries.

The chief producing interests behind the opposition in Congress are not now suffering from unemployment, or from severe competition in the domestic market, or from cutthroat prices, nor are they doing unprofitable business.

Quite the contrary. A compilation made by the National City Bank of New York of the net income of the leading corporations in the industries supposed to be affected adversely shows that never have they been so prosperous.

The 44 leading companies making chemical products earned over 17 per cent on their net worth last year, after charging off depreciation, interest, taxes and other charges and reserves. For 45 cotton goods companies the return was 36 per cent; for nine woolen goods companies it was 21 per cent; for shoes and other leather products it was 21; for glass products over 17 per cent.

These industries cannot argue that they are being hurt. All they can say is that they are afraid that they might be hurt some time in the future. That is not a sufficient reason for wrecking the foreign policy of the United States.

As a matter of fact these fears are for the immediate future—that is to say for the next three or four years—demonstrably groundless. What is the economic trouble in Europe? It is the low productivity of Britian, Germany, and the other industrial countries?

What is the best that we hope to see accomplished by the utmost exertion of the Europeans? Is it not that in the course of four years they may be able to produce enough to meet their own most urgent needs and to pay for the bare necessities which they must import?

How, then, can these American industries imagine that such feeble European industries are going to invade the American market and flood it with goods and ruin their profits? The trouble with Europe, which E. R. P. is set up to alleviate, is that European industries cannot produce enough. And yet here are American lobbyists trying to argue that the productivity of Europe is about to ruin them.

There is no sense in it. And while it would be wrong to wreck E. R. P. even if they lost some of their profits, to wreck it when their profits are enormous and their competitive position is invulnerable would be a most senseless piece of political sabotage.
